Quiet, Effective

Editor—take strong exception to your editorial "CIA Strikes Again" (December 18). The invasion of Cuba was a fiasco and we do not want to make another mistake of this magnitude.

This does not mean we should ignore Cuba. We are dealing with a ruthless, powerful adversary and must use every means in the fight. The only time we are aware of the CIA is when it makes a mistake. Otherwise it is quietly and effectively doing an important job—spying. . . .

I fail to see any constructiveness in the smug, cute attitude you have concerning this serious situation.
